In the dark again

Re: "Railroaded by housing train".

The State Government does not really tell things how they are. The Government's idea of consultation is to make decisions, then put out requests for opinions, etc, knowing full well it will take absolutely no notice of what is said. For John Carey to say at the end of the article the process is transparent is a lot of bovine excrement.

The Government does not believe in telling people what is truly going on (for example the unknown true cost of the wrecking of Burswood Park to satisfy the Deputy Premier's desire for a racetrack, or the unknown true cost of the rugby team to satisfy the Premier's desire for that sporting club). The idea the Government would not take any notice of what the affected councils (or residents) say is not unusual.

A grave injustice

Re: Ben Harvey's "Best we forget?" about gravesites at Karrakatta Cemetery (Opinion, Nov 16).

Imagine the furore if this happened to soldiers' graves in overseas cemeteries. Where is the Returned and Services League at this time?

Politicians of all persuasions, both State and Federal, should hang their heads in shame, as should the cemetery board. They are finding graves overseas and the soldiers are being reburied with full military honours.

Those graves that have
