

Premier cooked

After the last State election, Roger Cook rightfully started looking forward to a further term after this one, on the basis that the Coalition revival was a step too far.

I think we should seriously consider whether this has now changed considering the total incompetence of the Cook Government on just about every important government function and their persistence in pursuing vanity projects such as racetracks, sports teams and uneconomical ferries at the expense of health, law enforcement and housing.

Who on earth would vote for this Government now? I feel sorry for the backbenchers who will lose their living through no fault of their own.

In fact, they are the only solution for Labor. They need to sack Roger Cook and Rita Saffioti now and get better leadership well before the next election.

Basil Zempilas and Libby Mettam must be feeling amazed at their unbelievable good fortune.

Tony Jackson, Applecross