

We're united, are you?

I read the column written by Roger Cook (Opinion, 9/2) with interest.

I am sure most of Australia is already standing in solidarity in relation to terrorism in Australia. He needs to clean up his own backyard first.

Perhaps he should first look up the meaning of the word solidarity. In a nutshell it means "one for all". Not "all for one" as he seems to think.

Sorry, "all for two". We can't forget his sparring partner Rita Saffioti.

I can not recall any government project receiving more condemnation and disgust from the public than the current Burswood racetrack.

Was this project voted on by all of caucus? If so, then the whole WA Labor Party should have a real good look at themselves.

When is the penny going to drop with them that the Health Department in particular, but other departments, too, are in dire needs of mass financial help.

A pregnant woman giving birth on a freeway after being sent from hospital to hospital (News, 4/2). Surely that should raise a red flag?

Stop frittering away taxpayers' money. It is definitely time for both Cook and Saffioti to swallow their egotism and pride and admit they got it oh so wrong.

It's not too late to show common sense and good leadership and cancel this unwanted and ridiculous project. Only takes the stroke of a pen. The people want you to show solidarity.

Tim Wright, Aveley
