

Audit use of largesse

It might be worthwhile setting up a productivity group in each State completely independent of the State governments, to ensure that the GST they are allocated is productively used for the State it goes to.

And not for the waste on racetracks, rugby teams, concerts, soccer games, concerts, UFC, etc., etc.

When Mr Cook and Rita Saffioti understand it's not their money to waste on their little whims, the better and more efficiently that money will be spent on the State's real needs. The Government must answer to a critical group on spending, and not wait to the next election to see if the expenditure was well spent.

Bruce Larsen, Erskine