

I am not OK, Premier

Just when I believed Premier Cook could not get any more detached from reality he proves me wrong.

Not content with cutting swaths through the Burswood Park grass and chopping and chipping trees, before all the approvals have been made, he seems to think it is appropriate to chainsaw the iconic Burswood Park Blue Tree.

This is the Premier who promised he would be humble and yet seems to lack any self-awareness, has a tin ear and is vainglorious.

So, Premier, when we get to Are You OK? day this year, my answer to you will be a firm no.

You are doing nothing to improve my mental health and unnecessarily cutting down the Blue Tree has just made it worse.
