

Aside from all that

One of the joys I have in life is reading The West Australian every day but in particular "Letters to the Editor". Most editions cover authors whingeing about the many and varied projects the WA Government is spending taxpayers' dollars on. Most West Australians voted this Labor Government back into power.

So along with the health care, the Burswood racetrack, Bears, Metronet, fishing restrictions, four-wheel-driving bans, crime out of control, lack of police/nurses/teachers, harassment of legitimate firearm owners and riots in juvenile detention centres, what's there to complain about?

Redo convention centre

I would like to see the Government allocate some of the $2 billion iron ore royalties windfall (News, 2/12) to reopening the project to update the Perth Convention and Exhibition Centre. Forget the motorplex. This is an opportunity to fix a white elephant.
