

Know the answer already

Recent letters wondered why the Cook Government was asking for public comment on extra public holidays when they did not do so with other pet projects such as the Burswood racetrack and rugby league team. The answer is simple: ask any employee and they would be all for it and there are a lot more of them than employers. Another nail in the coffin for small businesses to whom, as Labor has consistently shown, they care little about.

Barry Glorie, Rossmoyne