

It is a pity that the State Government can only consider the water fiasco at Beaconsfield (News, 20/7) as an “inconvenience”. It may be so for the Government’s reputation, but it is a health hazard of major importance to their tenants.

Even though the site is due for demolition, the authorities have a responsibility to these tenants.

Shame on you, Roger Cook. Forget the racetrack, shiny lights and soccer, look after your people in desperate need.

Voters will remember.

Could he hack dry spell?

Roger Cook offered an apology for the “inconvenience” of a social housing complex in Perth having water issues for a month (News, 20/7).

I would guess that if his residence was without water for an hour, there would be a bus load of Water Corporation workers there to sort the problem immediately.

Double standards. What a hypocrite.
