

That's another big no

On September 30 the Perth City Council unanimously passed a motion expressing opposition to a racetrack at Burswood Park.

Clearly, the council understands and supports its people, and wants the amenity of the park preserved for the benefit of the community. A better option for the racetrack would be to have an annual three-day street circuit race for V8 Supercars around Riverside Drive and the surrounding streets of Perth.

Widespread community support for such a permanent, popular event would follow, accompanied by a massive influx of visitors to WA, bringing a huge boost to our economy, and an enhancement of Perth's reputation as a must-see destination for travellers worldwide.

Jeff Trudgian, East Victoria Park

